Flow Form Wheels

Track-born technology, everyday performance

Sparco Wheels takes a decisive step forward in alloy wheel engineering with the introduction of its Flow Forming line: wheels designed to deliver maximum lightness, structural strength, and a true racing soul.

Thanks to an advanced manufacturing process that involves controlled hot rolling of the wheel's barrel, the aluminum structure is compacted, resulting in a denser and more resistant material. This allows for weight reduction without compromising integrity, enhancing the vehicle's agility and dynamic responsiveness.

Perfect for compact and performance-oriented cars, Sparco Flow Forming wheels strike the ideal balance between aggressive design, high-end performance, certified by OZ.
